Does your donor meet the needed criteria?

- Hesitant, yet somewhat interested
- Donor requested to talk to a former donor?
- Positive attitude
- Extremely committed
- Altruistic
- Somewhat willing to advocate for BTM
- Unique barriers/experiences

Possible language

- Hesitant donor/Unique Barriers/Experiences
  - When some our registry members are called as a match, they are hesitant because they may be nervous or have questions like “does it hurt” or “how can I take off work or miss classes”. We want you to make an informed decision before moving forward for your patient. I believe it would be of great benefit for you to connect with past donors, who might have felt the same as you. The donor community is a closed group on Facebook that connect donors like yourself, with members you recently donated, or were called as possible donor for a patient.

- Donor requested to talk to a former donor
  - Our past donors are great advocates for our mission, and how you can help save a life. I would like to connect you with several donors, who have gone thought the donation process, but once received a call just like this one. We have a donor community closed page on Facebook. Through this page you will be able to ask questions, but also help others who might still be in the process of making a decision.

- Positive attitude/Extremely Committed/Altruistic
  - Is great to have donors, who are committed and ready to honor the commitment that they made 10 years ago. As a donor yourself, you may feel that everyone should say YES, but is important to remember that members may have their own hesitations. They may need donors like yourself help them remember that commitment. Be the Match has a Donor Community closed group on Facebook. By being part of it, you can offer your own process stories, but also act as an advocate for the Be the Match.